401(k) Plan Advisors Outperform Benchmark in Q1

The majority of professionally managed model portfolios on Spectrum's Total Access Record Keeping (TARK) platform beat investment performance benchmarks for the quarter ended March 31, 2009.

The average rate of return for Q1 was -5.32% for a 60% stock and 40% bond model portfolio, compared to -6.56% for the benchmark. The average return for other model portfolios also fared well compared to the benchmarks in Q1.

"Model portfolios" are typically a "fund-of-funds" created and maintained by a financial advisor and offered to plan participants as investment options in a 401(k) plan. Participants can opt into the appropriate model portfolio based on age and risk tolerance. The plan fiduciaries manage the underlying mutual funds according to the model portfolio's investment objective.

Using actual transaction and investment data from our recordkeeping system, we calculated the time-weighted rate of return, gross of investment advisory fees, for the 125 different model portfolios in our recordkeeping system. We then grouped each portfolio according to its equity exposure and compared to relevant benchmarks. See the below table for the resulting performance data.
